END OF YEAR CAMPING AND PICNIC

What a beautiful weekend we had for camping and our end of year picnic. It was great to see everyone gather together and have FUN! Thanks to everyone who had a hand in providing food for our shared meals. Special thanks to Leah for organizing the picnic and for all those who helped. I believe everyone had a great time.

SPONSOR BLOCK

So as the sponsor for the month, Mary wants me to share my recommendations about a podcast, a good book, movie, tv or streaming series. She might be sorry she asked, but here goes...

Well, I don't listen to Podcasts, and the last book I read was about teamwork and achieving goals. Interestingly enough the characters were squirrels, beavers, and geese. Curious?? The title is Gung Ho, and the reading assignment was for work. It was a good read, but I won't be covering that one for you. Back when I had time to read books, crime stories were my favorite. I enjoyed reading John Grisham, Phillip Margolin, and David Baldacci. I lean the same direction with television series, really digging into NCIS, Criminal Minds, and anything CSI... but not so much CSI New York. Just can't get into Gary Sinise.

About two years ago I subscribed to Discovery+ and it has really broadened my horizons. I discovered shows like Expedition Unknown, Unearthed, and Mysteries of the Abandoned. They are all really great, captivating shows. I can watch them and travel all over the world, and not even leave the safety of my living room. There are so many cool things out there that I know I'll never be able to see them all live and in person, so I guess TV is the next best thing.

I suppose when it comes to binging though, the series that I watch the "Our Planet" documentary narrated by David Attenborough. I've probably watched it over 100 times. The first couple of times, I was totally impressed by the artistry of the camera work. The whole series just flows seamlessly, exhibiting our world from so many angles: what we've done to destroy it, what's being done to fix it, and what needs to be done to return it to the wonder that it is. But after the 5th or 6th time I began to notice how easily I could fall asleep listening to Attenborough's commentary. So now, when I wake up in the middle of the night and just can't go back to sleep, I snuggle up on the couch and turn on Our Planet, and before I know it, I'm in LaLa land.

If I had to sum up the knowledge that I've gathered from the books and shows that I've filled my head with, I guess I could say that if I was asked for help by the Ancient Egyptians, Mayans, Aztecs, Greeks, Romans, Nazis, or bootleggers, I could tell them how to manipulate the legal system, hide all the bodies, and get rid of all the evidence, and still fall asleep to a lion taking down an alligator. Sometimes truth is stranger than fiction.

CHAPTER DIRECTOR

Well, Summer has come and gone, and I'm just not sure where it went. It seems like the past 6 months have been a never-ending rollercoaster ride. With events almost every weekend and even during the week, there just hasn't been time to pull into the loading platform for a breath. It has been a real thrill to see so many "G" Folk out riding, socializing, and just having a good time. And even though the days are getting shorter, and the nights are getting cooler, I'm just not ready for the fun to end, so I think I'll just find a way to keep it going.

Last night I was on an Ice Cream Ride with 19 bikes!! Absolutely incredible that we stayed together the entire time. The week before that it was 16 bikes. Folks really love that mid-week stress-relief. The Saturday dinner rides have been equally enjoyable with fantastic routes and delicious destinations. I unfortunately had to miss the Hillbilly Hot Dogs Trip, and I will also not be able to make the Fall Trip. It seems that I have run out of off days at work. Yes, I did say that ugly four-letter word- WORK. It's difficult to wake up each day knowing that most of my friends are retired and peacefully spending their days doing as they please, but I know that they have all put in their time, and mine will come. It doesn't make me any less jealous of them though.

The Fall Trip sounds fantastic, with rides and trains, and interesting sites to see. I know those who are going will have a wonderful time. I'll think about you while I'm at work. There are still rides to come, so don't pack away that motorcycle yet. Although Ice Cream rides officially end in September, there still may be a few good nights left in October. We have changed the departure time to 6PM though, to allow for more ride time before it gets dark. We will also shift the meeting point a little bit south, to the far end of the Kroger parking lot, down toward the library. This will keep us from disturbing Heritage Bank while it's still open for business.

The End-of-Summer Picnic was a really good time. The games were fun, and the food was great, but spending time with friends was the best part of all. I would like to thank Leah for all of her planning, Rick for being such a good grill chef, and everyone who helped to make it a big success. I would also like to thank all of you "G" Folks, because you are what makes our group so much FUN! There is still a lot of FUN to be had this year. Don't let it pass you by. Come on out and enjoy this wonderful family that you are a part of.

Be SAFE, have FUN, and I'll see yak' soon

*Donita Nardi
Chapter Director*

Fall is in the air and riding season is coming to an end. I know John and I didn't have a riding season this year, hopefully next year we'll be back on the trike.

Chapter G had our annual camping and end of year picnic at Big Bone Lick State Park. The weather was beautiful. We had a little rain during our movie Saturday night, (Maverick, no not the Top Gun one, but the one with James Gardner, Mel Gibson and Jodie Foster), but it held off until the movie was over.

Again thanks to Leah for organizing our Picnic—Win, Lose and Eat! We had great games of Black Jack, Roulette, Hi-Lo, Plink, and Poker Pong. The kids and adults really had fun playing and winning tickets for the prizes. We also played a round of Bunco and Left, Right Center. Our food was pulled pork with lots of sides, mac 'n cheese, beans and franks, green beans, potato salad, cucumber and tomato salad, chips and dips, Cole slaw, and desserts. I'm sure I forgot something that was there to eat.

Several G members will be traveling to Hocking Hills the week of October 19th—20th. Wishing you all good weather, safe travels, enjoy the scenery and shopping. This should be a great time for fall colors.

SAVE THE DATE: December 2nd - G Christmas Party. It will be held at Kelly's in Dry Ridge again. The Party is from 3-5:30pm, but we'll also be able to stick around for the show that evening. More info will be coming on this event. We will be doing the dirty Santa exchange. Bring a gift of $20-$25, lady for a lady, men for a men. We will also be collecting toys (do not wrap).

ALSO SAVE THE DATE: January 27th for the OPS MEETING. This is opened to anyone. More information will be provided by the State Directors.

Have a great October and enjoy the remaining good weather!

TREASURER'S

Hi Chapter G,

Congratulations to our winners from the September 5th Chapter Get Together!! Rick Young won the $10 "Membership" Draw this month. Chris Davis won 1st place of $24, Robbie Feldkamp won 2nd place of $14, and Judy Norris won 3rd place of $10.

Thank you to all who participated in the September Gathering.

We want to thank Dean & Kim Hedger for always doing a great job selling 50/30/20 tickets at our meetings each month! If it was not for Dean & Kim selling tickets and our wonderful members and guests purchasing our 50/30/20 tickets, we would not have the opportunity to do the fun events that we do each year.

Evolution is a wondrous thing. Every living organism was once something different, and because of random events and learned behavior, has become what it is now. In the animal kingdom, there are those that hunt, and those that are hunted. Evolution has yielded physical and mental abilities that help both in their quest for survival.

One of the key differences between predator and prey is the location of the animals' eyes. Hunters like bears and wolves have eyes that are set to look forward. Peripheral vision is available, but the total window from which their brain sees the world is not more than 180 degrees wide. They must turn their head to get a clear and detailed picture of what is to the sides and behind them. But with both eyes focused forward, these animals can very capably target their next meal. Hunted animals like deer and squirrels have their eyes set looking more to each side of their head. Along with peripheral vision, they have a window of over 300 degrees of view the world. They barely need to turn their head at all to see everything around them. They can easily notice another animal's movements and get a head start on their escape from becoming the next meal.

Human beings have eyes placed like a hunter. As motorcyclists, this physical trait offers us both advantages and disadvantages. Like the wolf, we can focus ahead and find at great distance any object or pitfall that may be in our path. Uniquely, at the same time as we are hunting for obstacles ahead, we are also the hunted. As we travel faster, we need to look farther forward so we can react in time to stay alive. But the farther forward we look, the narrower our window to the world becomes. We must move our eyes and our heads up and down, side to side, and remember to check our mirrors, to get a complete picture of the dangers that lie in wait to spoil our day.

This time of year, we have perhaps the greatest number of animals, people, obstacles, and events that are hunting us. Late September and early October is prime time for the deer rut. Normally shy, these animals are driven to seek each other to mate, and will often choose the shortest route over the safest one to get where they want to go. Likewise, human youth are going back to school with new schedules and new relationships that have them distracted while they travel the same streets we are riding. Like the deer, they tend to throw caution aside to get where they want to go. Falling leaves become slick and hazardous when they land on the roadway, especially in the rain. Walnuts and hedge apples are very slick and hazardous obstacles, and one should use extreme caution when they are sighted on the road, as more may fall at any moment. And road crews working to wrap up their summer projects are now applying the new asphalt surface to the highway. The first rain after paving is the most dangerous time as any lightweight oils mixed into the asphalt to keep it pliable will quickly rise to the surface.

Be safe and vigilant this Fall. Evolve your riding style. Be a hunter, but remember you are being hunted too.

CAMPING COORDINATOR

The end of year camp out and G family picnic is in rear window and nobody is broke from attending Win Lose and Eat! I believe everyone had fun. We laughed, we gambled and ate till we could eat no more. Everyone won a ton of tickets and was hopeful for a prize.

Lily Cridlin won the first game of LRC, Carol Redd won the 2nd game and John Eicher was the big winner of the dollar game. He won $78 to be exact. Since Mary gave him the $3 to play, she charged him interest and ended up getting her money back and then some! Ron Harper won the drawing for the playing card in the goody bags. It was a $15 gift card to Skyline.

Thank you to everyone you ran the games and especially to Tom Derig for bringing out his Blackjack table. It was very professional. If we could have had someone serving drinks while we were playing, you could have imagined yourself in a real casino!

Our movie, Maverick with James Garner, Mel Gibson and Jodie Foster brought lots of laughs and memories for those that had seen it years ago. The popcorn was delicious and only a little bit of rain came our way. We were able to enjoy the outdoors movie followed by a bonfire and some "slush". It was a perfect way to end our picnic.

The dates for camping next year are September 13-15, 2024. We are in the circle of campsite #4. Some folks go out on Thursday night. As of right now, sites, 11 and 12 are available. Get online and make your reservation if you would like to join us.

On another note....there are still sites available at the KOA Louisville

South for the Jack O' Lantern Spectacular, October 12-15. Call 502-543-2041 to make a reservation. The block is under James Cridlin. Cabins are also available if you are concerned about the weather there are plenty of hotels at the Shepherdsville Exit.

If you have a suggestion for camping in 2024 please let us know. We are looking at several state parks for quick weekend get aways!

Rick & Leah Cridlin
Camping Coordinator

The September ride was to The Kindness Capital of Kentucky, a.k.a. La Grange.

Several members were unable to make the ride but were able to join us in LaGrange for lunch at 119 West Main. Additionally, we had 4 guests on the ride, so ended up with 7 bikes and 14 people. Several members noted they had not ridden 42 that far down into Kentucky! It was not the fastest route, but definitely scenic going along the river and through small towns. Special thanks to Randy and Kim, who rode tail for us as we only expected 3 bikes. Thank you for stepping in when needed; so very appreciated.

Apparently on Saturdays there is a farmers' market, as well as a "Trackside Craft Market", so were able to arrive early and enjoy some local shopping before the lunch reservation. It's a pretty amazing little town, with the train tracks going the length of main street. And yes, we did see a train come through while we were there.

Other than shopping, of which there are many local craft stores in town, our main draw was to see the "Road Warrior" statue. Dr. Bruce Heilman was 86 when he circled the lower 48 states (9,200 miles) on his Marine issue Harley, and on his 88th birthday, he rode from Richmond, VA to Alaska. Not yet finished with riding, on his 90th birthday he rode from Richmond, VA to the west coast; all in support of Gold Star families, which pay tribute to the 16,000,000 veterans (living and dead) of WWII.

I can't tell you how much fun we all had 'hopping on the statue with "Bruce". The statue was purposely designed so that people could interact with "Bruce" and hop on the back seat of his Harley for a pic.

After lunch, a few of us made our way to see the Kindness Mural, designed by HGTV during a "Small Town Makeover" episode, with input from the family of the girls who started the whole "Be Kind" campaign. A wonderful reminder for all.

Our last drive by/quick pull-off was to see a 12 x 12 Barn built in 2011 atop a silo by man for his grandkids. It's fully functional with a porch, lights, running water, and air conditioning. An amazing site, and on private property, but there is a small pull-off to stop for pics.

We heard that our 4 guests enjoyed the ride, and they hope to be able to join us again. Thanks to Dave and Brenda Ehrhardt for inviting them along to see what we do.

Looking forward into October, we are working on the 2nd Saturday ride as well as much more planning for the Fall Event Ride. Hope you can join us!
