We've made it to March and April will be just around the bend. And we all know what April brings....no, not rain...ICE CREAM!!! That's right folks. We are just a few weeks away from Ice Cream season; I mean riding season. The days will continue to get longer and warmer and we will once again be out enjoying the backroads on our bikes, trikes, and even four wheelers. It will be so nice to get back out and enjoy the freedom of the road.

Steve and Lesley have planned a wonderful year of riding for us with some new and exciting destinations. So, if you haven't checked out the new ride schedule yet, make sure to do so. Get those dates on your calendar so that you won't miss out on any of the fun. In addition, this year there will be a pre-season day trip up to the Iron Pony in Westerville, Ohio. If you've never been, the sheer size of the place will just blow you away. They have some of everything for the sport of motorcycling, from gear, accessories, and a ton of bikes, trikes, and novelty motorsports. They have everything you need to prepare for a fun and enjoyable riding season.

On the schedule, you find something for everyone with long rides, short rides, weekend rides, and if you can't decide or find one that fits your time slot, you can always hop on BAND and find friends to join you on an impromptu ride. Lesley also has a list of suggestions for these day rides just in case you want to go but don't know what direction to head. They really have thought of everything.

We are working on a good date for Tech Day early in the season as well, so we can get together and knock out those last-minute maintenance items before we hit the roads for a safe year. So, look over your bikes and see what needs to be done, get the needed parts and we will get a date out to you soon. And remember, if your bike is good to go, you can still come out and enjoy the day with a classic G potluck, great friends, and good conversation.

So keep that hat, coat, and boots near the door for a few more weeks, then you can swap them out for a helmet, riding jacket, and bike boots. It will be here before we know it...just hang on a little longer.

Stay safe and HAVE FUN!!!

*Gary, Darlene,
Michelle & Raven Heil
Awards Coordinator*

Throughout my whole life I have been told over and over to go faster, hurry up, or just get it done. When I got my first job with taxable income in 1984, one of the first criticisms I received was because I was trying to go fast. “The faster you go, the further you get behind” I was told, and yet it was also made clear to me that the time it took me to make pizzas during the dinner rush was nowhere near fast enough. Sometime around 2010, I was informed by my supervisor that if I never made any mistakes, I would never get behind in my daily work. But, he continued, you make mistakes when you hurry. Even outside of work, the little voice in my head would tell me to rake those leaves faster to leave enough time to clean up, eat dinner, do the dishes, catch my favorite show, and still get to bed on time. I would start out sweeping the lawn just as fast as I possibly could to get the area clear of leaves. But every time I started fast, I would find myself perspiring and breathing heavily, I would get anxious to finish, and my energy level would be sapped in no time.

All these life experiences keep replaying in the back of my head. Until there is an epiphany, like the feeling you get during the last two or three moves completing a Rubik’s cube. After working and working, trying countless combinations of moves, you can see you have the solution, and you complete the puzzle with every piece in place. This exact thing happened on the way back from the Virginia Rally. I am not exactly sure where or when, but it happened. And I realized that riding a motorcycle well is very much like working well. You must slow down to go faster.

When you “slow down to speed up,” you allow yourself to take a steadier pace in exchange for a greater degree of control and focus over your work as a whole. The first set of twisties we came to on the ride home was a perfect place to test this idea. So, I slowed down. I worked to develop a rhythm of checking the GPS for the road ahead, checking the road signs, checking my speed, checking the road surface, and checking on my friends in the group behind me. I repeated this process over and over, turn after turn. I found that although I had started at a slower speed, I was getting down the road faster, more comfortably, and with less stress. Slowing down allows me to concentrate on everything I have learned in the Advanced Riders Course. I tried this when raking leaves. I set myself into a steady rhythm and focused on moving the rake one swipe at a time, steady and methodical. I found I can clear more lawn in less time with less fatigue, with plenty of energy remaining to move all the piles of leaves off of the lawn and into the woods.

Trying to work faster and faster ultimately will result in cut corners, missed details and lower quality, which often results in having to go back and redo what was done wrong the first time, lowering productivity. Focusing on only riding as fast as possible may result in data overload for many riders. To compensate, greater physicality is required, resulting in fatigue occurring early in the ride. More targets arriving faster increases stress and the likelihood of missing one or more. Missed targets may result in undesirable consequences, for which there is no do-over, and have a devastating effect on productivity.

The 2024 ride schedule was briefly introduced at the February meeting, and can be found on the website if you click the tab Ride Schedule 2024 . The planned routes will be added as we work on each upcoming ride. If you have any suggestions for a specific route, please Email: ridecoordinator@chapterg.org or text 513.967.2645.

The first rides, starting in April will be closer to home due to potential wet &/or colder weather in April. We thought this prudent.

April 6th starts us off with a trip to the Iron Pony store in Columbus. If you haven't been there, just imagine a store the size of Target but full of all things motorcycle . The store now also has mini showrooms for most brands of motorcycles (e.g. Indian, Kawasaki etc.). Boots, shoes, clothing, helmets, communication devices, luggage, bike cleaning and maintenance items and so much more. Get both you and your bike ready for ride for 2024!!

April 13th is a ride to local favorite Jewells on Main Restaurant.

April 27th a ride to Biancke's Restaurant in Cynthia, KY, who are celebrating their 130th anniversary this year.

Lastly, we would like to thank those of you have provided us with ride suggestions, either on the form, via email or text or in person! Please keep them coming so we can look at them and keep a list for future rides!

More information will be provided at the March meeting. Hope to see you there and on some of the rides this year.

Origin of St. Patrick's Day

Legend says St. Patrick was actually born Maewyn Succat, but that he changed his name to Patricius (or Patrick), which derives from the Latin term for “father figure,” after he became a priest. And that supposed luck of his is the root of all the themed merchandise for modern St. Patrick's Day.

It wasn't until the early 18th century that many of today's traditions were kicked into high gear. Since the holiday falls during Lent, it provides Christians a day off from the prescriptions of abstinence leading up to Easter, and around the 1720s, the church found it “got kind of out of control,” Casey says. It was to remind celebrants what the holiday actually stood for that the church first associated a botanical item—customary for all saints—with St. Patrick, assigning him the symbol of the likewise lucky shamrock.

Modern-day celebrations and themes continued to take shape during the rest of the 1700s. In 1762, the first New York City parade took place. It wasn't until 1798, the year of the Irish Rebellion, that the color green became officially associated with the day, Casey says. Up until the rebellion, the color associated with St. Patrick was blue, as it was featured both in the royal court and on ancient Irish flags. But as the British wore red, the Irish chose to wear green, and they sang the song “The Wearing of the Green” during the rebellion, cementing the color's relevance in Irish history.

As for the green beer, that's an even later addition. In fact, it wasn't until the late 20th century that Ireland repealed a law that initially kept everything—pubs included—shut down for the day. Since then, thanks to a marketing push from Budweiser in the 1980s, downing beer has become a common way to celebrate, regardless of how closely it's tied to the actual meaning of St. Patrick himself.

WHY EASTER SUNDAY IS A DIFFERENT EACH YEAR

The date of Easter changes each year because it is based on the lunar cycle. Easter Sunday always falls on the Sunday after the first full moon following the Spring equinox in March.

We now use the solar, Gregorian calendar rather than a lunar one, which means the full moon occurs on different dates each year, and therefore so does Easter – it can be any date between 22 March and 25 April.
